"Stand By Your Plant"

Sometimes it's hard to be a botanist
Finding alternatives to the theories of just one man
I drink Absolute at times, and with the relatives he drinks anytime
Doin' things that I don't understand
But if I work hard, I'll convince him
That space and time are not hard to understand
Friction’s not a synonym, nor an antonym
'For the relationship between an absolute botanist and a relative man.

Stand by your plant, and give it nutrients to grow on
And some water to drink up
When days are hot and droughty.
Stand by your plant, and let it photosynthesize
Giving it all the light you can.
Stand by your plant.

Stand by your plant, and let it photosynthesize
Giving it all the light you can.
Stand by your plant.
